Human Triggered Avalanche North of Daisy Pass

Date
Fri, 02/03/2023 - 12:10
Activity
Skiing

Dug at South facing snowpit at 9700' near the base of a wind-loaded slope, ECTX HS:280. Continued on less than 200' up the slope, the skier breaking trail triggered the avalanche. The third skier in the group of five was caught, carried, and buried to the waist. The crown was 1-2' deep, and 50 feet wide. Location: South of Fisher Mountain. Yesterday triggered a small windslab on a north-facing slope on miller ridge, no one was involved.

Region
Cooke City
Location (from list)
COOKE CITY