From email: "I saw some older slab avalanches on The Thunderer mountain, in northeast YNP (observed today). These avalanches happened on westerly aspects around 9700'. I'd hypothesize that they happened in correlation with the very strong westerly winds that happened around Feb. 21-22." Photo: B Fredlund

Advisory Region
Cooke City
Longitude
-109.94W

Latitude
45.02N
Avalanche Details: Natural Avalanches, Thunderer Mountain
Cooke City, 2021-03-02