GNFAC,

It was blustery in the parking lot of Bacon Rind this morning, I watched a semi truck drive off the road 100' from the snowbank I was standing on! Winds were light in the trees but strong on the highway in the morning and moderate up high, they sifted in the tracks in the upper meadows from the day before and formed soft fresh slabs up high. Did not observe any cracking or collapsing. It was snowing S1 in the morning but tapered off pretty quick and there wasn't any real accumulation by the time we left.

Thanks!
