

Maid of the Mist Bowl on Arden Peak/ bowl

Date

Activity

Skiing

We dug a very quick pit at the base of the bowl on the Maid of the Mist side of Arden Peak, and noticed slabs, the first of which was about 6 in down, and the second an additional foot down. Below the second slab was some worrying sugary snow that was sliding the slabs around as we were digging. We did not perform full column or propagation tests, but did decide to turn around early.
