

This avalanche likely occurred in the last 48 hours. It's a steep, wind-loaded northeast-facing slope on the edge of Sunlight Basin in the southern Madison Range. This was the only avalanche spotted the entire day. Photo: GNFAC

Advisory Region
Southern Madison

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Fri Mar 25, 2011
Southern Madison, 2011-03-24